Happy 100th Birthday!

LUHSD Survives a Century

Everybody always says that times have changed. In Brentwood, change is a daily occurrence, as housing developments spring up like plants, and gas prices fluctuate. It is certainly no longer the small town that was famous for its corn and apples that it was in the 1950's. And Liberty is no longer the tiny High School famous for its Barn Dance and Donkey Basketball game. Since its founding in 1902, the Liberty Union High School District, as well as its students, has evolved. From the world wars to the war on terrorism, the lifestyle here at Liberty has gone through countless cycles, trends, and crazes. A high school student, however, is a high school student always, no matter the era. There are still friendships, romances, books, and sports. As we look to a new century, we can't forget everything in the past that allowed us to get here. This year's yearbook is, like everyone, moving forward...and looking back.

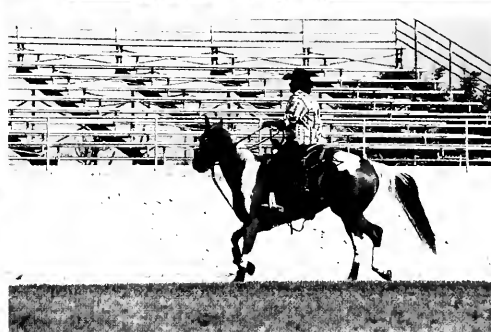

Above and right: their outfits may change, their hair may get a new style, but cheerleaders always have the same school spirit; below and below right: who doesn't remember that one guy in high school who was oh-so-popular with the ladies?

A is for attitude, B is for bold, C is for...

Strike a pose for the expressions page!

Why is it always that the one day you look bad is the day that someone takes your picture for the yearbook? Or even on the days when your hair looks great and you're wearing your favorite outfit, they still manage to get a weird picture by catching you off guard?

Sigh. Can you ever win? Yes, you can! For one, you have the chance to take a fabulous individual school pic. Or, if you're lucky, you can catch the photographer before they catch you and strike a pose. Plus, no matter how horrible you think your picture is, there'll always be an even worse picture of someone else.

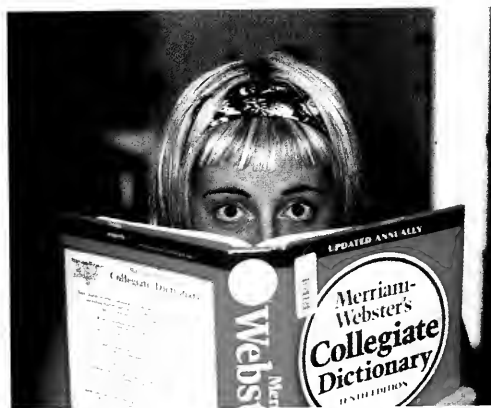

So here you have it—this year's Expressions Page. Enjoy.

Despite the Shortened lunch,

students still find time to munch

Students love to eat, whether it is pretzels, cookies, salads, chips or Lion favorite, Krispy Kreme donuts. We gather at coffee shops before school to get our daily quota of caffeine, during the day, we scramble to finish soda and snacks before class and endure long lines at lunch. After the school bell rings, we raid fast food restaurants and sandwich shops. We cherish the precious few classes we are allowed to eat in, in others, our roaring stomachs force us to slyly enjoy our treats.

Above: Rebecca Royal and a friend talk over lunch at the water park; right: little devils Jenna Key and Madison Brandstetter munch on french fries; below right: Maria Schindler diligently devours a sandwich. below left: Tarah Peterson keeps cool with a popsicle;

Voyage to a New Frontier

Friendship will never be the same

Friends are an important part of high school. They comfort you when you're down, make you laugh, and even help you study during the last few minutes before that one dreaded test. This year Liberty students expanded the boundaries of their friendships to new horizons. With the addition of the club, Best Buddies, students got a chance to form special bonds with the special education kids. Through foreign exchange students LHS spread their friendships around the globe. There's no doubt about it—Friends is more than just a TV show. Here are our friends—the old, the new, and the best.

In your pocket

What's weighing you down

Last Summer, the editorial board of the yearbook took a field trip to Marine World, the whole time singing, "In my Pocket," by Mandy Moore. It got us thinking, what's in the pockets of Liberty students and staff? More crazy than the looks people gave us were the things people actually kept or carried around...

Above left: Ross Matteson likes to keep every little thing he finds; above right Adrian Martin looks confused as he searches his pockets; below: these students are eager to show their pocket things and their personalities; left: this girl likes to know were she is going at all times.

the Lions, the Mighty, Mighty Lions

Hear our roar, see our colors

Although Liberty has always been brimming with school spirit, after the tragic events of September Eleventh, Liberty was aglow with American spirit as well. From American Day to the Bell Game, spirit connected our school and our community. Through it all, we refused to give in to the tragedy, and still managed to have a little fun. Seniors led the Lion pack in school spirit, and the all-new Male Spirit Squad riled up crowds. Be it with laughter or pride, Liberty showed the world its true colors: gold, red, white, and blue.

Left: junior girls Michelle Corey and Willow Cameron show us their 'innocent' side during Halloween; below: cheerleaders gather together for a post-game "Hail Liberty"; right: Jill Ducker shows us just how much fun it is to stay at the YMCA during the Junior Skit.

Hopeful Homecoming,

Liberty Comes Alive With Spirit

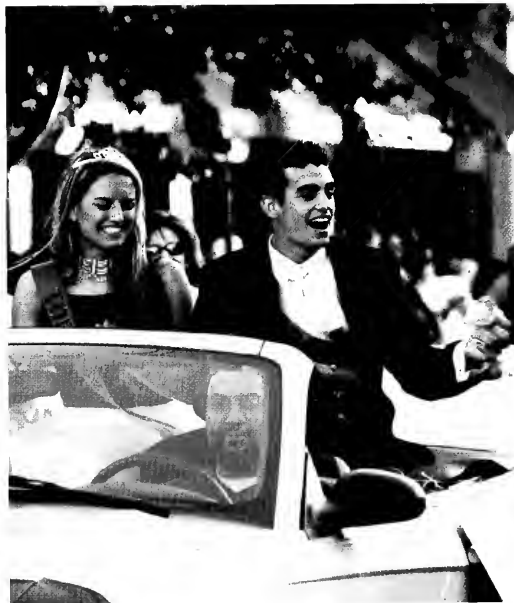

From Top Ten voting (on September 11th), to the last few minutes of the dance, Homecoming 2001 was hardly your everyday celebration. The Top Ten Rally began with the junior skit, which reminisced about the decades of Liberty. The student body then announced the Homecoming Court. An amazing outpouring of spirit made this Homecoming Week the best ever. At the rally, the court dazzled the crowd with amazing performances and dances. Finally, the moment had come: After an energetic fandango Brian Moore and Ragan Jolly were crowned King and Queen by Jay Snover and Julie Flashberger, who stood in for their older siblings. Not your everyday royalty, Brian and Ragan decided to dance with their fellow Playmakers during the parade. Brentwood came alive with Liberty spirit. All three football teams successfully smashed the Antioch High Panthers.

Isn't it funny how the moments you wait the longest for slip by the fastest? Remember our first Top Ten Rally? Then, before we know it, Brian Moore and Ragen Jolly are riding in the King and Queen convertible. Remember the first class election? Suddenly, there's a poster in the quad reading, "Jeremiah

Rosenthal for Senior President. "A senior is the wisest mind on campus, and not because we know what the letters AP and OCS mean, but because we've learned to savour the moments as they fly, and cherish the memories that remain."

Glamour was certainly the word of the night at the Senior Ball, which took place at the former naval museum on Treasure Island. The dresses were sparkling, the tuxes were sharp, and the limos were sleek as the seniors got together for one last night of dancing. The dance facility came complete with two stories of spectacular view, as students spent time gazing at the sparkling skyline of San Francisco, as well as fireworks conveniently provided by a concert taking place across the bay. It was truly "A Night in Paradise."

Another successful year at Liberty has come to an end. Contributing to the success were the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen classes. Although this year had its share of ups and downs, we have all come out smiling and ready for another exciting year.

Liberty students have worked hard to complete the year. The Class of 2003 started out as neophytes, but have now proved themselves worthy of the title Sophomore. Also enduring troublesome roads, the Class of 2004 are eager to finally become upperclassmen. Experiencing a bit of senioritis, the Class of 2003 prepares for their last and final year.

Junior Juniors

Sparkle Brightly

Throughout high school, we were overwhelmed with rumors about how tough junior year was going to be. With guidance from our advisors Mrs. Valerie Stullwell and Mrs. Christine Zahn, and the support of elected officials, Ashley Sugimoto, President, Ashley Brown, vice president, Andrea Chapa, treasurer, and Vanessa Ceja, secretary, we managed to make it through.

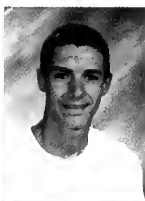

It took countless hours of hard work to get our float, "Who's the king of this jungle", ready for the spotlight in the Homecoming Parade. Although we did not win, we were proud of our final product.

On April 13, we momentarily stepped into adulthood at Junior Prom in San Ramon. As we watched our lives evolve, the theme, "I Could Not Ask for More", fit the scene.

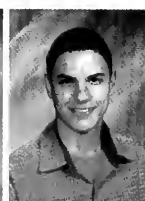

After three years at Liberty, we are finally advancing to the highest rank, by becoming seniors!

Class of 2004

Sophomores

Class of 2004 members entered their sophomore year with an explosion of reality. Into our second year at Liberty, we were no longer little kids on campus, but instead we were in the middle of our journey. As our classes got harder and the teachers more demanding, we matured.

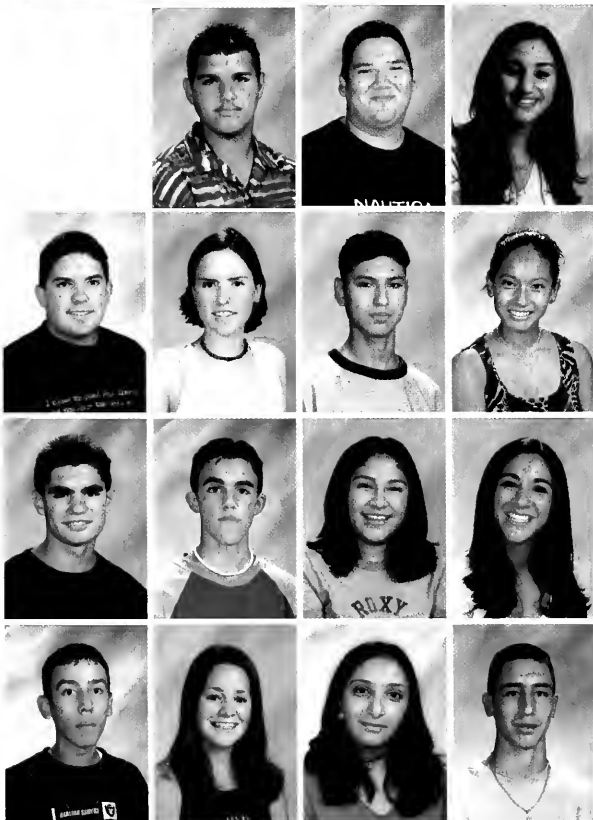

With the help of our class officers, Lauren LaFlamme, president; Athena Bernard, vice-president; Alex Baca, secretary; and Jamie Erickson, treasurer and new class advisors Mrs. Gina Kroner and Mrs. Sandy Overly our Homecoming was a success. Although we didn't place in the float competition, our theme, "Scare the Panthers Pink" was a big hit with our student body. Having a great sophomore year, we look forward to the years ahead.

Starting out as the new kids on the block, the freshmen have began a new tradition of their ice cream social at Back to School Night.

Lead by class officers Jeffry Sugimoto, president; Bobby Rudd, vice-president; Kelsey Brown, treasurer; Danielle Kieckhefer, secretary, and class advisors, Mrs. Karen Tafoya and Mr. Jesse Ortega, the Class of 2005 sponsored the Black and White Ball in the spring.

Experiencing their first Homecoming the Freshmen Class learned to work together in completing their first of four floats.

Not to be outdone by their upper classmen, the freshmen designed a class T-shirt and sold them to raise money for the treasury.

Above left: what are you thinking Mr. President, Jeffry Sugimoto?, above: I like the ski hat, Brittney Allan, left: Jackie Lynch and Amanda Ellis pose for a snap shot at the Club Unity Dance, below: Casey Howard and Livier Rubio shake it on the dance floor

ACTIVITIES: the very word says it all. Students and staff members involve themselves in a myriad of activities all year long. Beginning with Walk thru in the summer before school, even until the Grad Nite Party, the school community pours its heart and soul into the school. In order to present the best to the public, all individuals involved in different activities spent countless hours before and after school as well as in certain classes, practicing, polishing, and rehearsing to be at top form.

Activities include the first color concert, "Every 15 Minutes", the Sophomore Dance, the Homecoming Dance, numerous other dances, Baccalaureate and Graduation, Assemblies, the school paper and yearbook.

Faire Celebrates Centennial

Costumes, Food, Booths, Activities Delight Students & Staff in September

Capturing picture perfect smiles for the camera at the first annual Country Faire was not an impossible task. Daring students took a dive into the pie-eating contest, throwing out any concerns of getting dirty. Many volunteered to work at the various booths, while others walked around enjoying the early 1900's atmosphere.

In preparation for the faire, eleventh grade students read the book The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. Many students dressed up for the occasion by taking costume ideas right from the book. People dressed in a variety of costumes, ranging from lower class to upper class.

Students signed up to work at different booths such as hair weaving, cotton-candy making, cornhusk doll making, and the food station. There were activities such as square dancing, roping cows, a singing choir, a potato-sack race and the pie-eating contest.

This event definitely represented Liberty's 100 year anniversary.

Audience goers enjoyed the Playmakers unusual Fall Play, which was actually three plays in one called The Complete Package. Consisting of the "Bible", "America" and "Shakespeare", the three separate plays were considered a huge success grossing over $2,500.

The Bible brought in a total of 207 people. The main actors were: Elise Gargalikis, Ragan Jolly, Jeremy Hadley and Justin Rhodes. The scenery was a really big bible and a last supper painting.

Brad Moran, Serena Stanley and Glen Greer were the stars of America. The background was many stairs and a lot of American flags. During the show the cast sang the national anthem and the whole audience placed their hands on their hearts. America brought in 339 people, the biggest audience of the three plays.

Shakespeare had three really great actors: Theo Johnson, Mary Greenwalt (a student from Freedom) and Adam Rousseu. The scenery for Shakespeare was a painted backdrop. Shakespeare brought in 137 people.

'All Night Strut', Labor of Love

Spring Musical Entails Much Work and Sacrifice

Performing for an audience of 200 plus at each performance, the Liberty Playmakers hosted their spring musical, "The All Night Strut". Director Helen Dixon remarked, "Though it took a lot of time and people and was very stressful as well, it was great, very successful". Mrs. Dixon also played Hannah Brown.

With period costumes designed by Mrs. Robin Blount, the colorful outfits accurately depicted the '40s and were received with delight by the audience. Mrs. Blount also played the character, Eleanor Hutchins, in the musical. Laurie and Ross Last were additional adult characters.

Accompanied by both the Jazz Band and members of the choir, the spring musical performed over five performances including their closing Saturday matinee.

Older people were especially appreciative of the music while the younger audience responded with enthusiasm.

Festivals Dominate Busy Schedule

Christmas Parade at Disneyland

Liberty's shining band successfully marched through many festivities this year. Throughout the school year, they played during half time at football games and at many rallies.

Thanksgiving Day marked the beginning of Disneyland's Christmas holiday season. Our own Liberty Marching Band was one of the groups who participated in the first parade of the season.

The band also played at many festivals on local college campuses. They visited LMC, Stanislaus, Hayward State and Delta College during the year. The Jazz Band scored the highest out of all the groups at the LMC festival.

Liberty participated in a few exchange concerts this year with Freedom HS, LMC and Sierra HS (Montecito) where they practiced together and performed in the evening. Mr. Robert Smith's goal was for the Marching Band to play at a local A's or Giant's baseball game.

Mr. Smith proudly stated that this year's band is the "best band I've ever had." He believes all his students have strong leadership and performance skills. Good job Liberty Marching Band of 2002!

Stuart Directs Nine Singing Groups

Choir Groups Shine At CMEA Festival

Mrs. Sue Stuart's 26th year as choir director was rewarded when several of her choral groups qualified for the Golden State Festival. This was a prestigious honor as only 1 in 10 who apply are able to gain entrance.

After holding both a fall and winter concert, the Liberty choral department was proud to serve as host for the prestigious CMEA Festival at the end of April. This festival was followed by their annual spring concert where the Jenny Lind Award winner was announced.

In March, two bus-loads of choir members toured through the valley, journeyed up the Kern River Canyon to Lake Isabella, and wound up at Magic Mountain for a day of fun and reward for all their hard work. To raise money for the trip, choir members held candy sales as well as a hugely successful car wash in front of the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Stuart was honored as well when several of the top choir members lent their talents to the spring musical, "The All Night Strut."

The choral department consists of the following groups: A Capella, JAG, Divas to the Fourth, Barber-shop Quarter, Women's Chorus, Men's Chorus, Women's Ensemble, Mixed Chorus, and Chamber Singers. All these groups are under the capable direction of Mrs. Stuart.

13 Guys, 1 Night, 1 King

Sophomore, Adam Griffith Takes All

Sophomore Adam Griffith walked away with the annual Mr. Liberty award with his charming qualities. Older brother Scotty Griffith doubled up with him during the talent portion to show off their karate skills. Adam won the crowd over when he kicked his older brother to the ground.

Handsome contestants started the night off by strutting their stuff with their choice of girl, and in one case, girls. They also sang, danced and played garbage-can drums during the talent portion. Their true personalities were released during the interview.

Jeremiah Rosenthal, Scotty Griffith, Adam Griffith, Julio Mendoza, Corey Maciel, Charlie Davies, Ryan Olff, Jeff Carney, Jeremy Hadley, Jeff Sugimoto, Josh Lawrence, Dan Svoboda and Chris Anderson all competed in Mr. Liberty, not only to have fun, but to raise money for Liberty's Student Emergency Fund. Adam won $50 for being chosen as Mr. Liberty.

Lipetri Heads Leadership Group

"We Make Your Posters!"

Starting with Walk-Thru, moving on to the opening of school, and Homecoming of course, the leadership group has been busy with these and many other activities. They organized Spirit Week where everyone dressed up according to the theme of the day.

Jason Fithian, Senior Class vice-president, said that Homecoming was a blast this year with the help of the entire leadership class.

They also did a blood drive after the September 11th incident. During the holidays, they put together many toy drives.

One of the biggest shows they put on this year was Mr. Liberty which got a good laugh out of everyone in the audience.

Leadership students seem to always be working on something, be it making posters or organizing activities for their fellow classmates.

Talents of Staff Shine in True Color

First all-color book commemorates centennial

Excitement was evident as the mostly inexperienced LION 2002 staff began work on the book. The Editorial Board, consisting of juniors Sarah Dacey, Genie Bettencourt, and Coree Brown and seniors Maria Schindler and Jason Fithian, began with a bonding trip to Marine World in mid-July, where they chose the theme of this year's book: "Moving Forward, Looking Back." The theme spawned from the revolutionary all-color edition of this year's book, combined with the eight page centennial section, commemorating one-hundred years of the Liberty Union High School District. Once the book was planned out, it was up to the six returning members to train the new staff. Fortunately, that task proved elementary as the intelligence and creativity of the 2002 staff began to shine through. Thanks to the technological savvy of photo editor Jason Fithian, some of this yearbook was even created digitally. But as they say, all work and no play makes a dull yearbook, so the staff spent plenty of time amusing themselves during outdoor lunches on Saturday workdays, as well as a memorable day-trip to Santa Cruz over Spring Break.

Best Buddies Club Fills Special Needs

Newest Organization Sparks Interest

Best Buddies started off with a bang this school year. Victoria Zahn and Mrs. Christine Zahn started up the club hoping to establish one-on-one friendships between special education and general education students.

Best Buddies was very successful with many activities this year. They went to the Best Buddies Bay Area Winter Ball, which to many was a dream come true.

Friendships were created through the club and with that came many activities. Many of the Best Buddies enjoyed going out to dinner, the movies and even bowling.

Over the summer, Victoria, president, went to Chicago for a Best Buddies President Conference. She feels that the conference really helped her start up the club.

The officers were: Victoria Zahn, president; Ramiro Alvia, vice president; Jason Fithian, treasurer; Justin Davenport, secretary; and Mrs. Zahn, advisor.

Sports are just one of the many activities thriving
at Liberty High School.
From running to jumping to kicking a ball, Liberty Lions can do it all!

Winter, Spring and of course Fall, sports year round make the Lions stand tall! From football in the fall to swimming in the spring, Lions are champions at everything!

A Season of Skill and Spirit

Great year for Varsity Lions

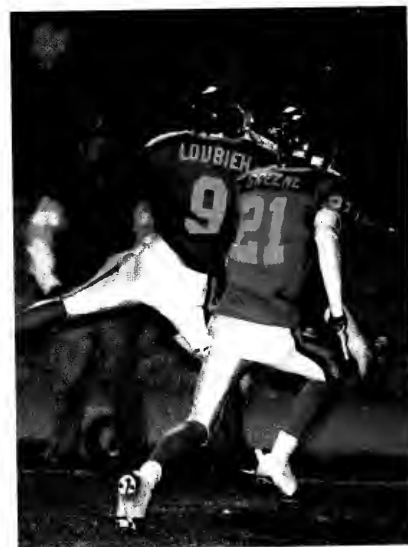

In his second year as Varsity Football coach, Mark Stantz led the team in a season of both successful and inspirational games. The Lions finished with a 5-5 record, a dramatic improvement from last years' 1-9, with skilled seniors such as Scott McKinnon, Thomas Nelson, and quarterback Trevor Johnston making the first and second All-League teams. While every game played was an uproar of school pride and spirit, the Lions outdid themselves during our Homecoming Game against the Antioch Panthers, leading 13-7 at halftime, and finishing with a strong victory. We proved much more than worthy opponents during our annual Bell Game against Freedom. Although the Falcons went home with the bell, the Lions' Varsity went home victorious in the heart of every member of the standing room only crowd.

Varsity Plays Their Way to NCS

New Coach Inspires

Newcomer coach, Mark Carlson, did an outstanding job guiding the Varsity water polo team this year. He inspired them to earn their first chance to compete at NCS. The Water Lions were a little shy at this tournament, considering this was their first year at NCS. They were shut out by Miramonte in the first quarter, but came back strong in the fourth quarter, scoring six of their total seven points. Unfortunately, they weren't able to proceed in the rest of the tournament because of their loss to Miramonte. 2001 was still the Water Lions best season ever.

Seniors Lead Team 5-9 Record

Split 1-1 with Antioch

Improving from last year's league record, the Varsity boys fought hard to establish respectability. They were fierce competitors earning a 11-14 season record. Perhaps one of the most exciting games of the year was a 1 point victory over the arch-rival Antioch Panthers overtime win at home.

Leading the team were co-captain Kevin Johnson and Jared Wilson. Kevin was also named MVP and he earned All-League 1st team honors. Jared earned the Coaches Award and was tabbed 2nd team All-League.

In the tough BVAL league the boys earned a 5-9 record. At the end of the season Mr. Mark Johnson announced that he was stepping down as Head Coach.

Diversity Aids Girls' Varsity Soccer

Freshman, transfer student help

This year's girls' Varsity soccer team faced its challenges with youthful ability. The team consisted of eight underclassmen and ten upperclassmen. With the help of team captains, Erin Melgoza and Rene Dudek, the team's final record was 10-6. Though they didn't make it to NCS, they finished third in BVAL. In the end, this young team was only scored on twenty-two times while they made fifty-three goals at the other teams' expense.

A Stunning Upset

Varsity beats first place Deer Valley Team

For an especially young team with only two returning starters, Liberty's Varsity soccer team sure made the best of their year! The highlight of the season was an unprecedented victory over Deer Valley, who finished first in the league, and second at NCS. The season also included two victories over Antioch High School, as well as one over Clayton Valley High School. The Lions' starting goalie, Jimmy Estenson, was selected to the prestigious BVAL first team.

As one of Liberty's most successful sports, the Varsity Wrestlers did not let down their ardent fans. Their BVAL record proved their skill with only one loss in seven challenging matches. Although they had one loss against arch rivals, Freedom, they performed in true Lion spirit, working hard until the end and maintaining their edge. Coaches recognized the team's hard work with many awards, both Jimmy Vukelich and Kip Klingsheim won Most Improved. Christian Bowerman received MVP because of his outstanding league standing and Tony Uchtyl garnered the Coaches Award for effort and sportsmanship. The team sent three to state competition. Bowerman, Kip Klingsheim and Travis Williams and Klingsheim and Bowerman pinned the NCS championship standing.

er's Pitching Sparks Varsity Wins

captures four straight victories

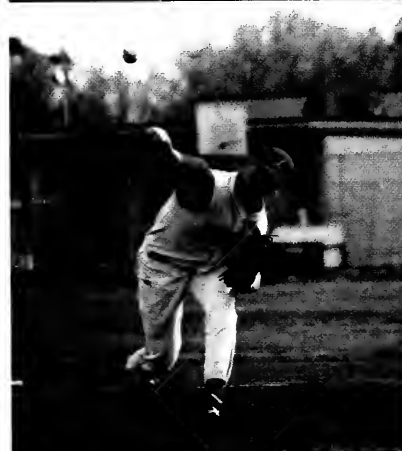

The Varsity Baseball team struggled during pre-season but slowly came on as the season progressed.

With the help of star-pitcher Chris Gruler, the team achieved a huge victory by beating De La Salle 5-3 at home. Gruler brought a new record to Liberty by striking out 17 Freedom batters with Liberty's win 6-1.

Although the team struggled to a 5-15-1 record, the Varsity played spoilers by knocking off several playoff bound teams.

Dwelley Paces Boys

This was a year of firsts for the Water Lions. Diving was an exciting addition to the swim team. Coached by first timer, Katrina, Liberty divers helped the swimmers out incredibly. Varsity diver, Jimmy Vukelich took first at the BVAL diving competition. The diving team contributed 55 points to the overall score at BVAL's.

The swim team came out of the water at BVAL's, proudly celebrating their best year yet, especially Liberty's coach of nine years, Erica Pantle. There were many amazing swims that weekend. John Dwelley's All American Consideration time in the 200-yard freestyle was one of them. (1:43:75). Both Varsity boys and girls took second place and JV girls took third in both categories. Numerous swimmers competed at NCS this year as well.

Boys Varsity Volleyball

Earn Trip to NCS

One word to describe the Varsity Volleyball team of 2002 is successful. Not only did the boys earn a trip to NCS, but a third place league finish as well. The team demonstrated their strength and skills when overcoming obstacles like beating second-ranked Deer Valley.

It's been years since Liberte has sent the boys Varsity Volleyball team to NCS. Despite all their effort and high hopes, NCS was an upset with a first round loss.

Varsity Qualifies for National Competition

while showing true school spirit!

Highlighting a successful year of rallies, games, and competitions, members of the Varsity Cheerleading Squad traveled to Anaheim over March break to compete in the Nationals.

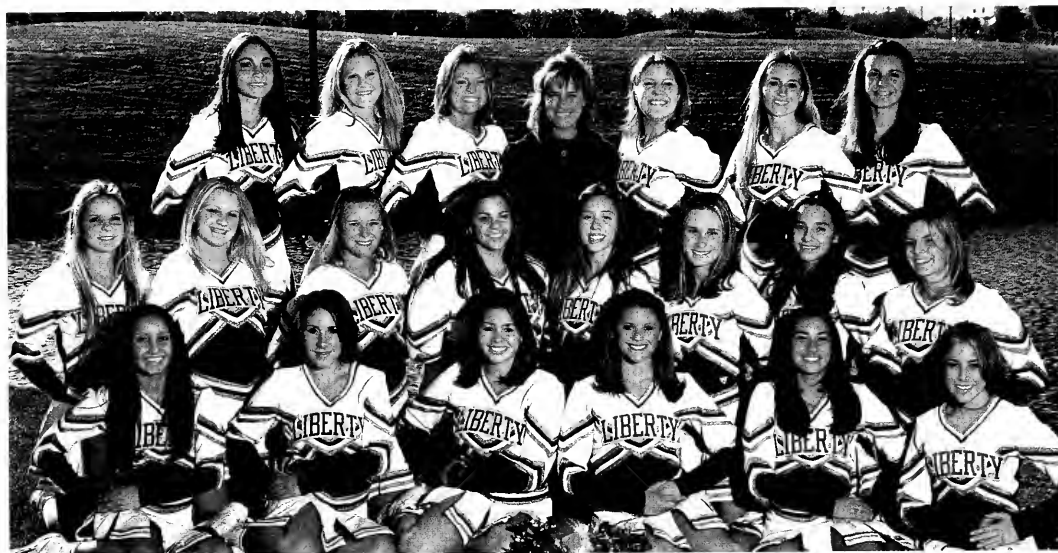

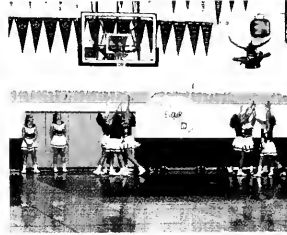

Competing at the Nationals was one group of girls who had to train another flyer after Sarah Boveri was sidelined with an ACL injury. Amber Adams was competing as a single entrant as well.

With Top Ten and Homecoming Rallies leading the best of things "at home", the girls were also active at every home football and basketball game stirring up spirit and displaying their multitude of talents.

To qualify for the Nationals, the squad performed in a number of competitions in Northern California, thus earning their way to the premier event of the year.

Serenity The defining word of the Liberty High School staff. Whether observing students or microscopic germs, staff always wears a smile. Although some students deserve harsh disciplinary action, the teachers still keep their cool. When the students are punished, revenge is always granted through such wonders as the modern dunk tank.

Ultimately, the Liberty staff and students make a great team. When help is needed, the staff is available. They aren't only teachers, but mentors and friends making them that much more wonderful. As the students have thanked you through breakfasts and luncheons during Teacher Appreciation Week, we would like to thank you again for being there through thick and thin. An educator is the mold of the future.

Staff Taking a Break

The 2001-2002 Liberty High School staff was one of particular strength. With the events of September 11th, they weren't only there for the students as teachers, but as mentors and counselors at times. The tragedy did not force the staff to stop teaching, but helped them to learn how to lead the way both mentally and emotionally. Tests were still administered and lectures still spoken. Along the way, the staff made sure to provide laughter for the students of Liberty High as well, through such events as the Country Faire. Spirits never died for the patrons of our campus, for staff members even made a point of dressing up for Halloween and Spirit Weeks. September 11th may have dented some spirits, but the attendants of Liberty High will never lose hope thanks to the guidance of our superiors: teachers and staff members.

The last four years have flown
by so quickly. Here are the Seniors savoring their sweet memories!

Family, friends
and FUN, the Senior Ads have it all! Seniors remember what got them here! Bonus:
Best of the Best!

When you arrived almost 18 years ago, I thought to myself, what have I done to deserve such a blessing. God out did himself, that's what he did. As a baby you certainly were a challenge until I got your car seat right. You never did like to be confined. When you entered school you never ceased to amaze me, always striving to be the best at everything you did. Robitussin you hated!! Now you have become a handsome, loving, caring man, we couldn't ask for anymore. We thank you for being our son & we are so proud of you. Dad and I love you with all our heart. We know you are going to be a huge success in life.... We love you!! Mom & Dad, Sean & Mikey P.S. Always remember you are your little brother's hero, NeNe!!!!

Son, you have always been a wonderful source of joy to me
You have touched my life
with a magic all your own...
I want you to know that the love we share
has made being a parent the greatest feeling
I have ever known.

We love you, Mom & Dad

Amanda,
You are unique and special with
An infectious laugh and
The ability to grab hold of the Moment and enjoy it
You've worked hard at Liberty---
We are so proud of you!
And as for college---
Live; laugh; enjoy!
Love,
Mom, Dad and Amy

S is for Study, you did the work, the grades are proof.
A is for Attendance, you were always there, you didn't goof.
M is for Mind, you have your own, you use it with care.
I is for Intellect, you can be proud, the results are there.
E is for Enjoyment, you fill our life with happiness.

All together it spells SAMIE, a combination of pride and love, the mixture of little girl and proud young lady. The student, so serious and dedicated, who took the time to recognize the cornerstones of her life, the love of her family. It is with pride and happiness that we encourage you to accept the challenges of your life in the future. We hope we have prepared you for the New World.

Proud parents...all our love...Mom and Dad

Jessica,

Know yourself-what you can do
And want to do in life
Set goals and work hard to achieve them
Have fun every day in every way
Believe in yourself as you make choices about your life
While following your dreams

You are a beautiful young woman, loving,
compassionate, good and honest, determined, independent, sensitive and intelligent. Best of all you are our daughter and you make us so very proud.
Always know that you are loved and admired by your family.

We love you,
Mom, Dad and Nicky

Our One of a Kind Granddaughter

Krista,
Never forget how very special you are Never forget even for a moment, how very much you are LOVED
We Love You and We will always be here for you GOOD LUCK IN YOUR FUTURE!!!

Love you,
Grandma & Grandpa

Krista

*What ever your dreams may be,
Whatever challenges lie ahead for you,
We know you will accomplish them. No matter what you achieve,
As long as you want it and it makes you happy,
You are a success. You are a blessing that we are forever thankful for
We want you to know how proud of you we are,
And being your parents has been one of our greatest joys
Believe in yourself, and how you are loved with all our heart
Love
Mom and Bill*

Petal of my Rose

It seems that only yesterday
Into the world you made your way
And blessed are those
That you chose.
Petal of my Rose

Your early years were such a boot
Play with brother in pursuit
With ready grin expose
The wrinkle on that button nose
Petal of my Rose

Always happy always caring
Always giving always sharing
And your love it shows
With your wit it grows.
Petal of my Rose

Continental shift
New beginning swift
You did oppose
Yet predispose.
Petal of my Rose

Now in bloom you're ready to Chase the dreams that come to you.
That's how it goes.
Your turn to metamorphose
First a Petal now a Rose

Our Love Always,
Dad, Mum, & Michael

Haley Elizabeth Pantle

When you were born, we had no idea what impact you would have on our lives, but now, almost 18 years later, we find ourselves overwhelmed with love and pride at the woman you have grown up to be. Always know that we love you for who you are inside and we dedicate this poem to you:

*Haley
Scandinavian meaning:
Hero*

*Many flock to her warm embrace
She has a natural beauty
She is curious and inquisitive
She treats her family tenderly
She believed life is an adventure
She's admired for her perseverance
She is casual and fun loving Esteems the true as well as goodness*

Haley, you are our hero.
Our cup runneth over,
Mom and Dad

Thanks for the room!
Good Luck in college!
Love,
Sarah

Rebecca,

From the beginning it seemed like you had your mind made up to succeed at everything you tried. We are so proud of the person you have become and all you have accomplished. We are excited for what lies ahead for you and remember we will always be there for you. A chapter in our lives is closing, but a new one is just starting.

With all our love,

Excitement & fear fill our hearts.
Soon a new way of life will start.
Four great years now have past.
But in our hearts,
The roadtrips and adventures last.
And where the years take us,
No place is too far.
We will think of each other,
Wherever we are.
It has now come to an end.
But we will always stay,

We wish you all the happiness and success that life sends your way.
You are the best daughter a Mom and Dad could hope for...If you can dream it, you can do it.

We love you!
Mom, Dad & Trent

Dear Jamie,

Everything that we have hoped for in a daughter has come true. You are an inspiration to us and the best of the family. We are so proud of the things that you have accomplished, you are a role model for your siblings and they too are very proud of their big sister. Being the oldest comes with a lot of responsibility. Not only do you have to determine your own path, you also are blazing the trail for everyone else.

We are so proud of the example you have set, always being your own person, not worrying about what others are doing and always acting with a kind heart. That takes more courage and integrity than doing what everyone else does, for the sake of being like everyone else. You will find that life is full of surprises and difficult decisions. Just remember to be you and follow your heart. Congratulations, you have earned it! We love you with all of our hearts...Dad and Lesile

Jamie Lynn

Unbelievable to think being the first-born means the first one to experience life and what it has to offer. We can safely say life has so many things just waiting for you. Some are Great and some are just what they are.
But one thing is for sure and that is you will grab whatever it has and make your own mark in this life of yours, because you are a unique Daughter, Sister, Granddaughter, Niece and friend to all of us. As your mom I am so very proud and you being my first-born, I can safely say we have not been so proud of anyone as I and the rest of your family are to what kind of person now and whatever you decide to be in your future.
Jamie be the person you are and never let anyone take that from you.

You are purely an example to us!

We love you with all of our strength and as well as the Lord's strength.

Your Family

Kimberlee,

From the moment you were born,
We knew you were special.
You're the kind of daughter every parent dreams of,
someone to take pride in,
to spend time with,
to love, an absolute treasure.

It's been such a joy
to watch you learn and grow.
Of all life's wonderful gifts,
none has been more precious than having a daughter like you!!
Reach for your dreams –
We Love you!!

Mom, Dad, Nicole, Brittani, Kellie,

Dear Justin,
(better known as our "bucky-bear")

Your wonderful smile, wit, charm and loving heart will take you to great places in life. We have no doubt that, because of your never-ending determination, you will be a successful man. And we are convinced that your strength and wisdom will carry you through all of life's challenges.

We are so proud to be your family!
Congratulations with all of Our Love,

Your life is a journey
with dreams to pursue.
Discovering what really matters to you
For dreams are the voice of your wisdom within
That whispers the way
on each path you begin.

Our little princess is all grown up. We are so proud of the woman you have become. Keep flying and reaching for and never settle for less than your definition of true happiness.

We love you best,
Mom, Dad, and Justin

Alison,
We have watched you grow from a shy little girl, into a beautiful, kind, and generous young woman that we are so very proud of. Don't think of graduation as an ending, think of it as a new beginning in your journey through life. There will be ups and downs, but there is one thing you can always count on, we will always be here for you. We love you Peepers.

Mom, Dad, Thomas, and Daniel

Dear Amber,

No one knows to what heights you can soar. Not even you will know until you spread your wings and fly. Just remember faith makes yesterday a stepping stone, today a new beginning, and tomorrow a limitless possibility. We proud of everything you do.

Love,
Mom and Dad

It seems like it was only yesterday that you were born & now here it is your senior year in high school. You have always had a very giving & loving heart & that is what I am so very proud of. You are a young lady that has compassion for her fellow human beings, that drive to live, & the determination to get everything out of life that you can. With these traits, you can only succeed in all you put your mind to. The door to the future is wide open for you to come out into the world & "make a difference" & I know that you are going to make a difference for those that come in contact with you. Keep dreaming those dreams. Don't let anyone tell you that you can't do something. The sky is the limit & remember that you have those "ANGELS" up above that are watching out for you. They will set you going in the right direction & protect you wherever you go & with what decisions that you make. You have made this world a must better place by simply being here. Never forget that I am very proud of you & love you very much. Conquer the world!!!

Love Mom

Nicholas:

Well I surely can't believe my "baby" is graduating from high school already!!! I just wanted to take this time to say how very proud I am of you. This past year has been extremely difficult and you have shown how special you are. Your dad will always be watching you. This is just the beginning of your journey.....reach for the stars.

I love you.....Mom

Chris,

It is very exciting to see you accomplish as much as you have and to know what you can accomplish in the future. We will always be behind you 110%. And we can't wait to see you pitch in the world series some day. We're so very proud of you. Continue to have fun.

Love always
Dad, Mom & Melissa

Dear Elaine

You have grown up so fast. It seems only a short time ago you were climbing rocks, beaming with personality and looking at the world with wonderment and joy! Always keep that! And know that you have brought your family much happiness and fun in the first years of your life. Let your light shine, and brighten the world as you have our lives. Keep Climbing girl! We love you!

...Mom and Laura

Jennifer,

When you were born it was the proudest moment in all of our lives. We have watched you grow from a clumsy little girl into an intelligent and beautiful young lady. We are still very proud of you and wish you every happiness in the world.

With love,

Mom, Dad, Jayme, & Johnathin

Best Friends

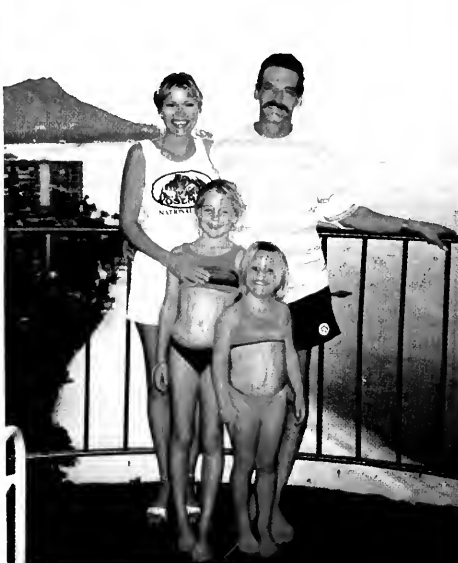

Though we don't see each other very much nor do we write to each other very much nor do we phone each other very much
 I always know that, at any time
 I could call, write or see you and everything would be exactly the same
 You would understand everything I am saying and everything that I am thinking

Our friendship does not depend on being together
 It is deeper than that
 Our closeness is something inside of us that is always there ready to be shared with each other whenever the need arises

It is such a comfortable and warm feeling to know that we have such a lifetime
 friendship

Poem by Susan Polls S

Dear Jillian,

We can't believe its time already. Seems like only yesterday I brought you into the world. We have been so blessed by the heavens every day with you and your big brown eyes. You are a really good person and we are all better people for having known you. There's nothing you like better than to cuddle, you have always been our little love bug. Your spirit is so bright heaven lost a star the day you were born. I remember teaching you to snow ski when you turned 3, and when ever you'd fall down you were sure the closest person to you had to have something to do with it. It was totally adorable. As long as you were being pulled in the sled instead of walking, you were happy. But if you had to walk you'd never say hold me, you'd say, "I hold you?" it was too cute! My sweet little flower child, always picking me bouquets of wild flowers. I could go on and on. Just remember that we are here to make sure all of your dreams come true wherever the road takes us. May all the angels in heaven watch over you always and forever.

All our love,
Mom, Rich and Jamie

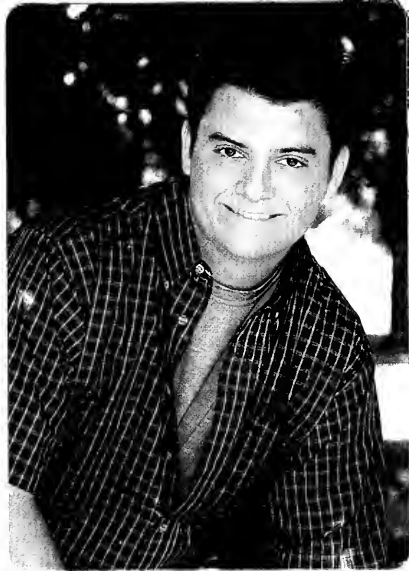

Kyle,

You've always been such a sweet, kind young man and a wonderful brother to Kent and Thomas. You bring such joy to our lives and we can't wait to see what the future holds for you. Your wonderful talent is waiting to blossom. Always keep that kind heart and beautiful smile.

Love to you always.
Mom, Dad, Kent and Thomas

Andrew,

From bubbly baby to funny little boy, to musical teenager, and now you're a wonderful young man - each stage has brought laughter and love and memories that we'll share forever. We are so lucky to have you in our lives. We are very proud of you.

All our love,
Mom and Dad

Kelsy,

It seems like only yesterday you were a little rascal tugging on your Dad's pant leg. You have grown to be a beautiful young lady we love you very much, and congratulate you on your graduation accomplishments. Keep up the good work!

We have watched you grow from a precious little baby to a beautiful young woman. You have brought so much love, joy and happiness to us. You are a caring, kind, sincere and beautiful young woman. We are so proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad & Colby

Congratulations on a job well done.

Love Grandpa

Always remember your ability is only limited by your determination. You only need to reach for the stars and they are yours for the taking! You will always hold a special place in our hearts.

Linda & Gloria

Strive for your dreams, conquer your fears, live life to the fullest, but always remember whatever you strive for, as friends, we will be there for you.

Linda, Doug & Travis

Congratulations on graduating and remember you are intelligent, beautiful and born for success and I am lucky to have met you.

Love, Tony

The essence of Kelsy is sweetness and light kindness and joy.

WE COULD NOT HAVE EVEN IMAGINED HOW TERRIFIC YOU TURNED OUT. HOW HAVE YOU DONE SO MUCH AND MADE IT LOOKED SO EASY. THERE IS A GRACE ABOUT YOU THAT MEN CAN ONLY HOPE FOR. YOU HAVE OUT WORKED, OUT PLAYED, AND OUT DREAMT MOST. YOU HAVE LEAD BY BEING A SERVANT TO ALL. MEN AND WOMEN CAN COUNT ON YOU BECAUSE YOU SAY WHAT YOU MEAN AND DO WHAT YOU SAY, ALL THE TIME KEEPING YOUR SENSE OF HUMOR WHEN OTHERS ARE LOSING THEIRS. YOU HAVE A GREAT FUTURE AHEAD OF YOU AND IT IS EXCITING TO KNOW WE WILL BE THERE TO SEE HOW IT ALL TURNS OUT.

MAY LIFE REWARD YOU ACCORDING TO YOUR EFFORTS MAY FRIENDS SEE THE REAL PERSON YOU ARE.
MAY ALL YOUR DREAMS BE FULFILLED.

KRISTEN AASEN

One crisp December day in Colorado, we received a miracle - our first child. What a privilege to care for you, ... to nurture, ... to teach, ... discovering together the fullness of life in our family. Time passes, ... our family grows, ... memories are created, ... a heritage we share together - memories which transcend time, ... so many to cherish, ... so many more to create ...

God has given you so many gifts, ... talents revealed, ... those yet to be discovered, ... to build on & use ... to make a difference ...

We are proud of you. Thank you for the honor of being your parents, now & always ...

Love,
Mom & Dad

"You're more than a lover,
There could never be another,
To make me feel the way you do,
Oh, we just get closer,
We fall all in love all over,
Everytime I look at you,
I don't know where I'd be,
Without you here with me,
Life with you makes perfect sense,
You're My Best Friend."

Punkin'! Congratulations, Jessica! High school is finally over! It's time for life's next chapter to unfold, how exciting! Let us assure you there are no worries on the homefront, as a young woman, you're ready. We're so proud of you and know the future is prosperous and bright. May our lord bless you in all of your hopes, dreams and prayers. You will always be our "shinning star." Remember to always love your Daddy!

Love always,
Mom and Dad

True Friends

There are many people that we meet in our lives but only a very few will make a lasting impression
on our minds and hearts
It is these people that we will think of often
and who will always remain
important to us as true friends

Friends are always there...honest, hopeful, lasting, laughing, sharing always with you. Friends are always remembering the important things. Friends understand when no one else does. Friends are buddies who always stay close despite time and place. Friends give each other space and time. Friends know the meaning of smiles, laughter and tears. Friends are special treasures who stand by you always, through thick and thin.

A Day in Infamy, A Lifetime in Remeberance

A Lion tribute to September 11th

At 5:30 AM we stumbled out of bed. At 5:45 we turned on the radio for some morning music. At 5:48 we were jolted awake. The news of a plane crashing into the World Trade Center, though 3,000 miles away, still hit close to home. Two of the planes were headed for San Francisco, and two were headed for LA. As we arrived at school, the cloudy day took on a whole new significance. "Did you hear?" "Did anyone die?" As the bell rang, the murmur of a prayer circle filled Scott Hall. This uncommon sight was an eerie reminder that a tragedy had in fact occurred. First Period was quieter than usual. We all sat half awake and half stunned. PE classes huddled around the radio in the weight room, regular classes put notes aside to watch CNN. No matter how we tried to go on with our day, everything still held that unfamiliar air of sobriety. Then the President came on TV. As the words "deliberate act of terrorism" filled microphones, an older generation of Americans was taken back to another day that continues to live in infamy. For days after, the pictures of the smoke, the fire, the blood, and the rubble, stayed in our minds, and scarred our hearts. We couldn't help but picture the pleading faces of families, holding pictures of the missing at ground zero. We choked up at the sight of a fire truck, as hope of finding the lost grew dimmer.

Yet out of that smoke, rubble, and loss, came a stronger unity than any of us had ever known. This was bigger than team spirit, bigger than school spirit, this was The American Spirit. Flags graced car antennas and garage doors. Catholic Volunteers stood outside of Jewish Synagogues "Just in case," and people of all religions prayed together in town centers. And for once Californians loved New Yorkers.

September 11th 2001 will never be forgotten. Its memory remains a tribute to every American, and the ultimate vengeance against every terrorist. The very pride that they intended to kill came back twice as strong and twice as bright. What Americans remember about the New York City will not be two towers of smoke in the early morning, but two columns of light in the midnight sky.

Do you know anyone who remembers when...

Liberty Jetsetters See the World

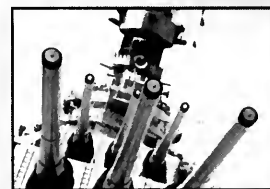

Italy Welcomes Students

World Travelers raised money with an Italian dinner, pizza nights and candy sales. Finally, on March 17, 2002, 30 Liberty students embarked on a journey that would leave them with a lifetime of precious memories. They departed from San Francisco International on an eight hour flight to Amsterdam where they would then continue to Italy. To amuse themselves on the lengthy flight, students talked, took photos, played games and watched Mr. Lloyd Cornwell sleep with one eye open. When they arrived in the Netherlands, they toured a local museum and saw the sites, they then had to sprint to make their flight to Venice. Twenty-four hours after their departure, the weary students arrived and then had to lug their luggage up stone-stepped bridges to reach the hotel. In the end, the struggle was worth it, in Venice, they took gondola rides through the canals, explored the glass isle of Murano and discovered a new love, the Italian ice cream gelatto. They were awed by Renaissance arts and intricate masks, snapping photos of anything they could. In Florence, they were amazed by the David and the girls went wild for shopping, many buying gowns for proms, the boys chose to buy leather jackets, looking classy gathered together. Everyone rubbed the nose of the famous bronze bull to ensure their return to the beautiful city. Wherever they went, there was so much to see and so much to do, sampling the foreign cuisine and assimilating to a calmer, fascinating life of Italy. By the time the group reached Rome, they had learned to say basic phrases and use the Euro dollar to make their purchases. When in Rome, students visited the Catacombs, the Coliseum and ancient ruins. They toured the Vatican, staring up in wonder at the Sistine Chapel and Saint Peters Cathedral. Finally, it was time to return home, sad to go but anxious to see friends and families, they boarded the plane. They came home t Brentwood with souvenirs, photos and a different perspective on the world. They say "Grazie" to everyone who helped them experience this chance of the lifetime.

In 1891, the citizens of East Contra Costa County decided that they needed a high school. There was much dispute over the location, with a heated debate between both Antioch and Brentwood locations. The Brentwood district was not favored by many families who did not understand why their children needed more than an eighth grade education. However, the majority prevailed, and Liberty Union High School was established in 1901.

On August 15, 1902, Liberty High opened in the backroom of the Brentwood Grammar School. Mr. I Wright was principal and teacher. Miss Beatrice Hagmayer was also a teacher. There were 29 students enrolled, 26 freshmen and 3 sophomores. Students came from Knightsen, Byron, Vasco, Deer Valley and Oakley, and could chose from either a two year commercial program that would prepare them for the workplace or a four year college prep program. The first graduation was June 3, 1905 with one graduate, Miss Edith Sellers. The first yearbook was published in 1905, there were sixteen pages and no photographs. The school celebrated the end of the year with a picnic at Marsh Landing.

Cardinal and gold were selected as the school colors in 1907, a tradition that remains to this day. By 1908, the school had three staff members and had outgrown its storage room. A new school was built where the American Legion Hall stands today. It boasted indoor restrooms, a tennis court, and a shed for students to tether their horses. The school was unscarred until a fire started in the attic in 1909. Townspeople rushed to help, carrying out furniture, books and the piano and putting out the flames with buckets of water. The students elected their first student body officers in 1910: Ray Shafer-president, Zilla Cook-vice-president, Charles O'Hara-secretary, and William Cakebread-treasurer. The year 1910 also marked the first Hijinks, a carnival created by the Girls' Association to generated money for school events. The event drew members of the community that came to play games, go on the ferris wheel, and visit with their neighbors.

The 43 students in 1912 were occupied with German classes, the blacksmith shops and community picnics. In 1913, the student body chose to name their yearbook the "Liberty Bell," while the active drama association performed many plays, including "The Minister's Wife." The school district bought its first engine-powered bus by 1916, which was pulled by a car. Erastus Granville Nash was hired as principal from 1917 to 1947. Today, his legacy is honored by Nash Hall in the middle of the present campus. In 1918, an overcrowded LHS burned down because of a chemistry experiment gone wrong.

In the "roaring twenties," a new school was built at the current location on Second Street for $93,000. It contained more classrooms, athletic fields, a library, and an auditorium. Crowded even then, student parking was filled with horses and buggies and jalopies used by students that weren't transported by the school bus. After school, most students headed to work on the family farm or to extra-curricular activities like sports, drama and music. On weekends, many worked, went to city functions, spent time with friends at Rolando's Restaurant or the pool hall, and went to movies.

Rose Pierce fondly recalls her high school days during the 1930's, "School was more personal, not massive like today, everyone knew each other." In 1932, Oscar Burroughs was honored as valedictorian for his outstanding academic achievement, before moving on to UC Berkeley. Many students worked after school, and classes were set up to allow twenty minutes at the end of class for homework. All athletics were held right after school because there were no lights for nighttime activities.

Students were free to roam around town at lunch, frequenting Johnny's Lunch Wagon and other fast food restaurants. In 1935, the football program began at the ASB President's request while the student body and the Lions Club rallied to raise money for the field and supplies. The school's mascot became the lion as a tribute to the help of the Lions Club. In 1939, the active FFA held the First Annual Field Day with a rodeo, a parade, and a dance.

During the Second World War students supported their country. Boys joined ROTC and girls volunteered their time to help the community and soldiers abroad. They also purchased War Stamps and Bonds and maintained an aircraft alert program. The FFA and student body volunteered in the fields because of the labor shortage caused by the war. The 1944 yearbook was dedicated to "fighting Liberty Lions all over the world." During this period, many immigrants from Europe settled in Brentwood to get jobs in the booming agricultural community. They settled at Davis Camp, a settlement started by a local landowner. Students attended school while adults worked in the fields. In 1947, Lions were league football champions. Also, the Lion Broadcaster, the school newspaper, began publication and brought news to the student body.

The fifties were a successful decade in athletics, academics and activities. From 1951 to 1955, Lou Bronzan was coach of the football team which led their school to victory for five consecutive years. In 1953, the first Homecoming Celebration took place, crowning nine princesses and one queen. The tradition of Donkey Basketball in the gym began-students and teachers played while riding on a mule to the amusement of the whole town.

The sixties were a tumultuous but exciting time in Liberty history. Five cheerleaders, six songleaders, two mascots and five majorettes led a spirited student body. Handicapped students were welcomed into Liberty in a new program. In 1963, a disgruntled student set fire to the school. Students returning from Junior Prom helped to put out the fire and emptied the swimming pool to smother the flames. The community opened the theater, restaurants, and businesses for use as classrooms. Students brought all their books as the school had none. Classes at the Veteran's Hall enjoyed flying paper airplanes and shooting spitballs to the high ceiling. In 1964, Laura Burroughs was salutatorian, delivering a speech about the world ahead. The dress code was very different then; when senior boys wore shorts to school, they were sent home by Principal Boulding.

The seventies boasted a high enrollment rate with 1158 students. During this decade, the newly remodeled gymnasium was dedicated to Frank M. Stonebarger who sponsored many sports programs. Lanny Brown and Larry Peters fondly look back on high school as a time of fun, football and work. Students hung out at the Lone Tree Drive-In, visited drive-in movie theaters, and cruised the strip along the river. Boys had perms and girls had feathered hair, and donned flared jeans and polyester. The gymnastic teams wowed judges with flips and tumbles.

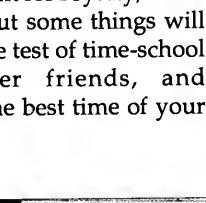

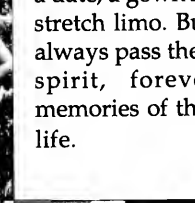

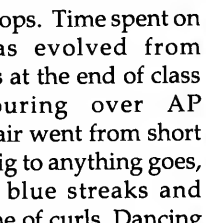

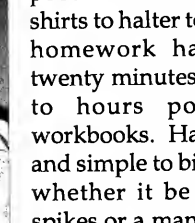

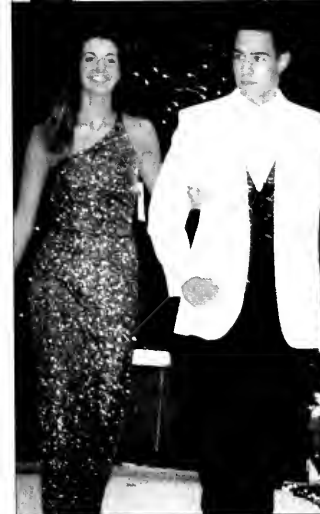

The eighties were a fun time with big hair and cut-up sweatshirts. Spirited students celebrated football victories. The typically defunct SASI computer program was purchased in 1984. Mr. Jerry Lilley led the football team to FAL Championships in 1985. In 1986, an angry student set a fire in the administration wing. The main building was burnt and many offices were damaged by the smoke. The first of many portables began to arrive during this decade and eventually built up to 57 before Freedom High School opened.

The nineties were a period of major change at Liberty High School. Brentwood's unexpected growth sent waves of new students into the school, prompting the construction of Freedom High. New math and science buildings built on the Liberty campus were dedicated in March of 1991 and the Performing Arts Center was begun. For the first time, the Junior Prom and Sophomore Hop were separated and Prom was held off campus. Also, the Mr. GQ pageant (later renamed as Mr. Liberty) began, setting off years of fun and entertainment. Funds raised benefitted the SERF program.

Left: a group of girls wait patiently for their turn at bat; right: Mrs. Hilary Pedrotti strolls across the campus.

Over the years, many things have changed here in the Liberty Union High School District. Fashions have changed from poodle skirts to mini's and collared shirts to halter tops. Time spent on homework has evolved from twenty minutes at the end of class to hours pouring over AP workbooks. Hair went from short and simple to big to anything goes, whether it be blue streaks and spikes or a mane of curls. Dancing changed with the times, going from the Charleston to swing to the macarena to modern dance. Extra-curricular activities went from picking apricots to chatting online and shopping on E-bay. Prom went from a simple dance in the auditorium to a expensive extravaganza, not complete without a date, a gown fit for royalty, and a stretch limo. But some things will always pass the test of time-school spirit, forever friends, and memories of the best time of your life.

Look Who's Walking Now!

from amateurs to adults

We walked on one early morning in August and now we're walking off one late afternoon in June. The last four years have flown by leaving sweet memories for us to savor...

As the first class to be measured by standards and benchmarks, we were subject to higher expectations than any previous class. As always, the Class of 2002 rose to the occasion. With the help of our advisors, Mark and Sharon Johnson, we elected our first officers; Trevor Johnston, president; Erin Kruse, vice president; Kim Summers, secretary and Amber Adams, treasurer. Their leadership started us off right. Our Homecoming Float won 2nd place with the theme "Bury the Broncos". Not bad for freshmen!

Sophomore year brought even more excitement and success. The new advisors, Mrs. Sharon Johnson and Mrs. Jeanne Glenn, as well as class officers Chris Gruler, president; Erin Kruse, vice president; Kim Summers, secretary; and Amber Adams, treasurer lead the way to a fun-filled year. "Wipe out the Warriors" stole 1st place in the annual Homecoming competition. Soph-Hop was our first real chance to get dressed up. Brent Biggs and Erin Kruse reigned over the event as our Prince and Princess. It was a great way to end a great year.

The beginning of Junior year brought the realization that we were already halfway through high school. Added to the list of our favorite hangouts was the student parking lot as by now, most of us were driving. In the midst of AP classes, SAT's, sports, school plays and other activities we still managed to have an unbelievable amount of fun. We were lead by Erin Kruse, our class president; Amy Lipetri, vice president; Becky Ramirez, secretary and Charlie Davies, treasurer. Our Homecoming Float, "Lions eat those wildcats, tear them up like little rats" brought us lots of pride though not a first place prize. Junior Prom in May really did leave us "Hanging by a Moment".

And now the moment we've all been waiting for... "Look who's walking now!" The Class of 2002 is special in being the Centennial class and we made the celebration last all year long. Our officers Jeremiah Rosenthal, president; Jason Fithian, vice president; Karissa Mikla, secretary; and Kim Summers, treasurer, lead us to our very last Homecoming victory. Not only were we victorious on the field and with our float, "Plow the Panthers", but our King and Queen, Brian Moore and Ragan Jolly's carefree antics added to our delight. Our school spirit continued through the unforgettable Bell Game. The electricity of the crowd, fueled by the Male Spirit Squad, demonstrated the enthusiasm the Class of 2002 had always felt. "A Night in Paradise" on Treasure Island was our last real chance to 'shimmy' with all of our friends. Dressed up and looking like stars, we made the most of our night in the city.

Just shortly after, we were making that memorable walk on June 7th, 2002, with our high school days behind us and our futures spread out before us. Good luck Class of 2002!

class celebrates long awaited commencement

It was with butterflies in their stomachs and hope in their hearts that the Class of 2002 took the field on June 7th. They were led by Valedictorians David Hardee and Thomas Albertson, and salutatorians Maria Schindler, John Breneman, and Kenny Key. The ceremony opened with class speaker Nick Arata's moving speech on the American way of life. After some words of wisdom from Principal Dan Ocheltree, it was time for the academic leaders to speak on the benefits of failure, procrastination, individuality, humility, and frustration, as well as the importance of cheese and silly putty. Then Jeremiah Rosenthal, class president presented the senior gift. Although the presentation of diplomas was slightly hindered by technical difficulties, after a little adjustment the centennial senior class finally got it right! Good luck Class of 2002, and in the words of Social Studies teacher Bill Batze, "Make a great future!"
